Defendant.)

On February 18, 2021, the grand jury returned a superseding indictment against defendant, adding four counts to the one count initially charged in the original indictment. Dkt. 55. On February 23, 2021, this Court asked “whether the parties seek a trial in April in light of the superseding indictment.” Dkt. 61.

The parties respond as follows. The defense would like to go forward on April 12, 2021. The government is preparing for the April 12, 2021 trial date set by the Court and requested by the defense at the last hearing. Though the government believes that a late April or early May trial date would favor a more orderly pretrial process for both parties, the government also understands that the defense wishes to keep the April 12, 2021 trial date.
